

Concerns in HECI as the Regulator

What is the issue?

\n\n

\n

- Government proposes to replace the University Grants Commission (UGC) with a Higher Education Commission of India.

\n

\n\n

\n

- The proposal raises many concerns and has many unanswered questions.

\n

\n\n

What are the concerns?

\n\n

\n

- Role - The role of HECI in relation to professional bodies is unclear.
- Depriving the HECI completely of funding functions may affect its efficacy.
- It may affect its stature in discharging its onerous responsibility.
- Funding - The MHRD has been directly funding more than a hundred institutions of national importance.
- It includes Indian Institutes of Technology, National Institutes of Technology, Indian Institutes of Science Education and Research.
- Funding 47 Central universities should not pose a problem for the ministry.
- However, funding scheme for the State universities needs to be clearly worked out.

\n

- This is because they account for more than 50% of the student enrolment.
\n
- A clear and transparent mechanism should be spelt out if it is to be funded through the Rashtriya Uchchatar Shiksha Abhiyan.
\n
- Besides, the effective role of HECI in regulating state institutions needs attention.
\n
- Autonomy - Certain new initiatives are proposed recently in the higher education sector.
\n
- This includes granting near complete autonomy to the Indian Institutes of Management.
\n
- It also includes providing graded autonomy to other institutions.
\n
- Besides, more institutions are encouraged to move out of the regulatory ambit to develop into institutes of excellence.
\n
- Given these, the role of HECI as an overarching regulator has to be reassessed.
\n

\n\n

- Structure - HECI will have a chairperson, vice-chairperson and 12 members.
\n
- The secretary of the HECI will be an officer of the rank of joint secretary and above.
\n
- S/he could also be a reputed academic and will serve as its member-secretary.
\n
- Will the secretary have voting rights or not as a member is unanswered.
\n
- Also, government has overwhelming power to remove the chairperson and members.
\n
- Secretary - The secretary is expected to play multiple roles:
\n

\n\n

- i. acting as a member of the HECI
\n

ii. serving as a member of search-cum-selection committee of the chairperson and vice-chairperson

\n

iii. processing their appointment as a key functionary of the government

\n

\n\n

\n

- Such multiplicity of roles may create difficulties and conflict of interest.
