Bilateral Transfer Pricing Agreements

\n\n

\n

- Mutual agreement procedures (MAPs) and advance pricing agreements (APAs) are the bilateral transfer pricing agreements to solve the income tax dispute between IT department and foreign corporate.

\n

- APAs are meant to settle potential disputes in advance, while MAPs to settle a dispute once it has happened.

\n

- Both these agreements are applicable to a country only when the DTAA with a particular country contains a 'corresponding adjustment' clause.

\n

- The clause would allow the tax disputes through bilateral arbitration instead of domestic litigation

\n

- Now, IT department has issued a notification which allows MAP and APA with all countries irrespective of 'corresponding adjustment' clause in the treaty.

\n

- It helps important trade partners such as France, Germany, Italy, Singapore and South Korea which did not get the benefit of MAP and APA in the previously held stance.
