

Tri-Services Integration - The Challenges

Why in news?

\n\n

- \n
- India is aspiring to integrate its defence forces command.
- \n
- Recent comments from the high ranking military personnel clearly show their disinterest for such a move.
- \n

\n\n

How did the controversy brew?

\n\n

- \n
- Vice Chief of Air Staff, Air Marshal S.B.Deo, recently opined that services integration will affect budgets & resource optimization.
- \n
- Also, Army Chief 'General Bipin Rawat' had said that the primacy of the Army in the envisioned joint services should be maintained.
- \n
- These developments could unleash another round of inter-service turf war and affect several decisions on services integration.
- \n
- This will also delay the commissioning of specialised commands for cyber space and Special Forces.
- \n
- Notably, 34 recommendations relating to services integration are pending before the union cabinet currently.
- \n

\n\n

How is the progress in constituting a CDS?

\n\n

- \n
- K.Subramanyam committee that was constituted after Kargil, proposed the creation of the post of “Chief of Defence Staff - CDS”.
- \n
- CDS was envisioned as a full-fledged five star officer who would be senior to the forces chiefs - (The proposal never went through).
- \n
- After much deliberation, consensus has veered towards a Permanent Chairman for Chiefs of Staff Committee (CoSC).
- \n
- The permanent chair is proposed to be a four star officer - who will be equivalent to the three service chiefs.
- \n
- Some voice that this will only enhance the protocol nightmare.
- \n

\n\n

How does the future look?

\n\n

- \n
- India’s primary threats are still on land, from the northern and western borders but newer challenges have emerged.
- \n

\n\n

- \n
- The Indian Ocean is becoming a major arena of friction, with increasing Chinese forays.
- \n
- While the threat of war stills exists, conventional full-scale war is not a possibility anymore.
- \n
- Future combats are expected to be majorly short and swift engagements which call swift action by the forces in unison.
- \n
- The recently released ‘Joint military doctrine’ of the Indian armed forces was a welcome move to enhance coordination.
- \n
- A lot of work is needed on the ground to achieve even a fraction of what has been articulated in the doctrine.
- \n

\n\n

\n\n

Source: The Hindu

\n

IAS PARLIAMENT
Information is Empowering
A Shankar IAS Academy Initiative