

U.S.A's Asian Foray and Indian Ambitions

What is the issue?

\n\n

\n

- U.S. recently released its security and defence doctrines which laid emphasis on Indo-Pacific region.

\n

\n\n

What the doctrine is all about?

\n\n

\n

- The National Defence Strategy (NDS) and the National Security Strategy (NSS) showcases U.S's strategic priorities ahead.

\n

- The documents show that US has shifted its focus from Asia- Pacific to Indo-Pacific region.

\n

- It highlighted the changing geopolitical realities in the region such as\n

\n

- China's territorial and maritime advance in the Indian Ocean

\n

- Regional instability due to North Korea's nuclear tests

\n

- Prominence of Asian economies in international trade and commerce

\n

\n

\n

- NDS also seeks to further expand defence cooperation with India on military purchases.

\n

- Thus the document will serve as crucial policy indicator for India too.

\n

\n\n

What are the stakes for India in the region?

\n\n

\n

- U.S. Factor - U.S is increasingly expanding its influence in the Indo-pacific region through alliances particularly after its withdrawal from TPP.

\n

- It has built missile defence systems with Japan and South Korea to checkmate North Korea.

\n

- It has formed 'Quad' partnership' to counter China's rise.

\n

- China Factor - India's neighbourhood countries has seen china's investment in multiple infra-projects, which has given it a strategic presence.

\n

- At the multilateral level, India is checkmated by China on the issues of terrorism and membership of the Nuclear Suppliers Group.

\n

- China has invested significant capital to push ahead its ambitious Belt and Road Initiative (BRI).

\n

- Other Issues - The region also faces security threats such as piracy and terrorism, which require a larger regional cooperative framework.

\n

- Economic integration and connectivity are other aspects that the neighbourhood needs to focus on for a shared prosperity.

\n

- Although, there is no other nation in contention, India needs to raise its stature as the chief deal maker in the region if it has to attain that converted status.

\n

- In the backdrop, India needs to become a consensus builder in South Asia, if it has to emerge as the "net security provider" for the extended region.
