4) Consider the following statements with respect to Reusable Launch Vehicle (RLV)

1. RLV has 4 stages like PSLVs to propel the vehicle into orbit.
2. It uses conventional solid booster designed for low burn rate.
3. ISRO doesn't launch any reusable launch vehicles yet.

Which of the statement(s) given above is/are not correct?

Answer : b

A SpaceX Falcon 9 rocket carrying a Qatari communications satellite launches from the Kennedy Space Center in Florida.

Reusable Launch Vehicle (RLV)

- The RLV has only two stages to propel the vehicle into orbit.
- Once the fuel in the first stage has been expended, the vehicle will shed it, and carry on with the second stage.
- Once it has been shed, the first stage will re-enter the atmosphere and land in an autonomous fashion at a pre-determined location.
- After some maintenance, it will be available for reuse.
- The configuration of RLV-TD is similar to that of an aircraft and combines the complexity of both launch vehicles and aircraft.
- The winged RLV-TD has been configured to act as a flying test bed to evaluate various technologies, namely, hypersonic flight, autonomous landing and powered cruise flight.
- In future, this vehicle will be scaled up to become the first stage of India's reusable two stage orbital launch vehicle.
- RLV-TD consists of a fuselage (body), a nose cap, double delta wings and twin vertical tails.
- It also features symmetrically placed active control surfaces called Elevons and Rudder.
- This technology demonstrator was boosted to Mach no: 5 by a conventional solid booster (HS9) designed for low burn rate.
- The selection of materials like special alloys, composites and insulation materials for developing an RLV-TD and the crafting of its parts is very complex and demands highly skilled manpower.
- Many high technology machinery and test equipment were utilised for building this vehicle.

India

- In 2010, ISRO began developing a winged reusable rocket, taking the first step towards realising a two-stage-to-orbit (TSTO) launch vehicle that could be fully reusable.
- On 2016, the winged vehicle successfully flew at hypersonic speed.
