

2
2
India's participation in G7 as an observer serves to advance its foreign & security policy objectives.

Elaborate

India was invited at the G7 summit with three other nations. The invite is seen as a watershed event with collaborating with industrialised nations.

Push to foreign policy

2022 Resilient Democracies statement was signed at the summit. It covers areas such as inclusion and equality civil society, information environment and global responsibility. It can greatly create paths to collaborate with countries.

The just energy transition principles help India to attain greener technologies to fulfill its net zero target.

The international climate club helps to attain the COP21 Paris goals which India has attained half the way.

Push towards security

The Partnership Goals for Infrastructure and Investment (PGII) aims to mobilise $600 Billion to counter Belt and road initiative of China. India can make use of this and strengthen its border and maritime security.

The Carbis Bay declaration on changes in geopolitical situation was recognised.

Also, the G7 planned to cut Russian energy supply which could hamper our needs. A balanced approach between the west and east can ensure our strategic goals.