

① Corruption is a reflection of crisis in ethics & moral values of the public servants in the Country?

Introduction - Corruption is a form of dishonesty (or) criminal offence by an individual (or) organization which is entrusted in a position of authority.

INDEX - India ranked 85th among 180 countries in global perception index 2021 released by transparency international.

Corruption in INDIA ① The above index showcased individuals who have enriched themselves at the cost of public & purging them still.

② In recent independence day speech our PM revealed his anguish & exasperation against corruption.

③ Even, India continued to be berated as corrupt nation though it attained 75th year of independence.

(4) Further in his speech it highlighted that handling corruption was a joint endeavour b/w govt & the public as those bribe takers can't be flourished without a Bribe giver.

(5) With Union of minds & endeavour we can achieve to enhance our moral credibility.

(6) In Today's world, Common man is most agitated about the corruption & dishonesty in state administration & few bureaucrats at centre.

There are certain places where corruption takes day-by-day.

(1) Real estate - registration of documents to sell & buy properties & sanctioning of planning permissions to put up new building, corruption remains unbearable through illegal under the table payments.

② political corruption - It plays a huge role among others as it demands for a "plum portfolio" during formation of govt is nauseating & has many dismaying connotations.

④ Nexus b/w higher officials - Exchanges b/w ministers & top police officers lead to misuse of administration which puts burden on common man.

Reason - [Many of the officials despite from great academic career they fall to high style of living results in compromising ethical values. as well as law & executive action are not upto the level to control crimes.]

Conclusion - ^{quality} Education is an ethical tool which could vanish this out thereby future-generations are in favour of honesty in their careers & makes society cleaner.
