

A country like India demands 'governance' which is apt to the society. A Progressive legislation can meet success if we actively let people participate in its overall execution and planning.