

Q. The concept of a lifestyle for the Environment (LIFE) movement is in line with the global climate justice movement. Justify.

↳ Introduction

today world facing multiple crisis like COVID-19 pandemic, war fuels a devastating Energy, Food, and cost of living crisis.

Right now world facing Triple planetary crisis of climate change, Pollution and Biodiversity loss.

↳ International targets ⇒ Paris agreement, INDC were taken, last year CO26 was taken to tackle the crisis.

↳ LIFE / lifestyle for Environment → we have taken life movement. Promotes to develop environmentally conscious lifestyle.

↳ Patterns of consumption needs to change from Linear Economy to circular Economy (.

Linear - Buy → use → Dispose → Dump

↳ Circular → Buy → use → Reuse → Recycle → Again used.
(Mindful and Deliberate utilisation)

↳ Saving energy at home, cycling and using public transport.

↳ waste less and leveraging our position as customers and employees to demand climate-friendly choices.

↳ Gentle persuasion techniques to encourage Positive behaviour

↳ UNEP → more than 2/3rd of GHG Emissions can be attributed to Household consumption and lifestyle.

↳ India

↳ 1.3 bn people, achieve a true Jan andolan.

↳ As ~~lea~~ India leads, our PM and UN Secretary General are calling on all consumers across the world become 'pro planet people' by 2027

↳ Life as Global Climate Justice movement

↳ CBDR Common But different. Responsibility → Rich do more poor do less ⇒ climate environment is common Responsibility but is a differentiated responsibility.
This principle is should be recognised.

↳ avg. carbon footprint of person in high income country is more than least developed country.

↳ Developed countries to support climate adaptation and mitigation for those most affected, yet least responsible

↳ The world has enough for everyone's need, but not enough for everyone's Greed."
