

Discuss the major reforms that are needed to be taken up in civil services for effective functioning of administration in India?

Ans → Civil servant real test of Indian Administrative Function. This is conducted by union public service Commission (1926).

Various type of committee constitute for civil service reforms like that.

This diagram refers to changing pattern of UPSC

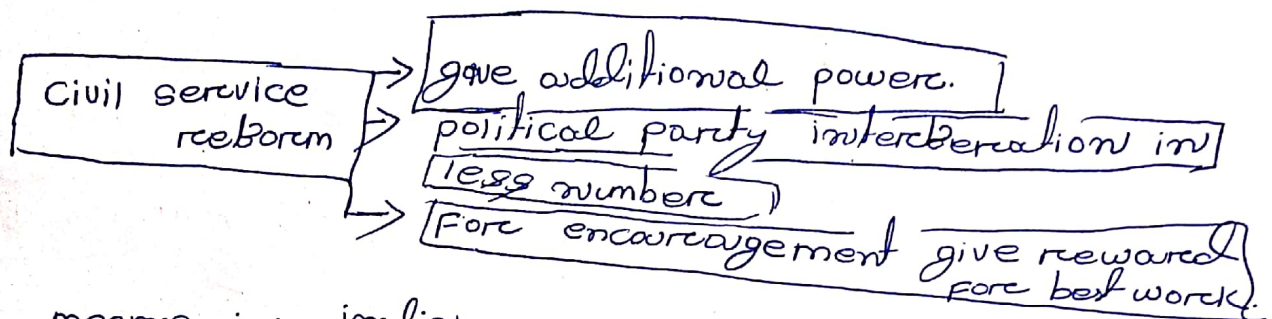

So, important committee suggest the examination process but actually the government think about administrative function of civil services like-

- ① The civil servant work in freely.
- ② prohibited political interpetation.
- ③ give fully freedom in work place.
- ④ special administrative body created.

So, in India the administrative reforms most needed, that's why the civil servant working in proper manner without any interpetation of political party.

a reform is needed like. work transparency, major impact on civil service reform.

① it means in india The civil servants have lot of talent but some political interference they don't work in proper manner. so a administrative committee is most needed.

② The government make a strong law that's why. The executive body work in proper manner.

③ every year government create a function for best officer to their reward them, their internal personality might be growth.

→ The government work to create separate body for civil servant. that's why they work in freely.
